

Keeping families in shelter healthy and safe

For more than a year, we've been keeping families in shelter healthy and safe during the COVID-19 pandemic. We can all do our part to take care of each other.

What we're doing

- COVID-19 screening for all families entering shelter
- Easy access to vaccination and testing
- Cleaning and sanitizing common spaces and high-touch surfaces
- Changing services and modifying spaces as recommended by CDC guidance
- Separate floor and safety procedures for families who need to isolate or quarantine onsite

You can help

Talk to shelter staff if you or a family member have symptoms or think you have been exposed

Stay isolated in your room if you are sick or waiting on test results

Learn when you can get vaccinated

Wear a mask whenever you're with people from outside your household

Stay at least six feet apart from others in public spaces

Cover your coughs and sneezes

Wash hands frequently and thoroughly

As always, we are here for your family: a safe place for shelter, healing, and support as you work toward housing and stability.

Please talk to staff if you have questions or concerns.
